Koba Table

PRODUCT NAME

Koba Table

DESIGNER

Jean-Marie Massaud

YEAR OF DESIGN

2020 - Granite + wood tabletop

2025 - Wooden tabletop

Koba is essentially a sculpture made into a timeless table. At first sight, it may be a deceptively simple piece of furniture with beautiful proportions characteristic of Massaud's design language. However, a closer look reveals intricate details that make this table as much of a functional object as a showcase of extraordinary craftsmanship and first-rate natural materials. The table's cone-shaped base is sculpted in solid maple which ends with a soft, rounded bottom. The outer part of the tabletop is made in 4 cm thick Zimbabwe granite stone with a burnt, textured finish. Integrated in the stone is the table's central part, made in solid wood. This hand-carved part is not only a visual highlight, but it is a rotating plate element made to facilitate the sharing of food around the table. The wood part is easily removable to allow cleaning underneath as needed. The textured finish on the stone and hand-carved rotating plate work remarkably well together, adding a touch of warmth and tactility to the piece. In 2025, we introduced an all-wood tabletop. The table is available in 140 cm (sits 6) and 160 cm diameter (sits 8).

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

The wooden tabletop is made out of four separate pieces, with visible joints that highlight the construction. To improve stability, a black steel plate is added beneath the tabletop.

* Product weights are approximate and vary based on wood species. Different wood densities affect overall weight, even within the same species. If only one weight is shown, it represents the average for maple, ash, and walnut—maple and walnut are similar, while ash is 4% heavier. Oak's weight can be estimated by adding 11% to the net weight. These variations may impact handling, transport, and usage.
